

"ANTHEM FOR THE REVOLUTIONARIES" By Asha Noel Iyer

V. 1

We had a world we nearly lived in,
Our version of Utopia,
Nostalgia exists for what's not had.

V.2

A list for liberated wonder,
Still pecks me in my decayed mind,
It sings out to me in the quiet times.

CHORUS

Almost world, you often peak out still today,
Almost world, if you saw us what would you say,
Almost world, you dance around reality,
You flicker in the in-betweens, almost world.

V. 3

We had a world we nearly lived in,
It was fresh and fair and true,
Now nothing but porous remains for me and you.

V.4

Dusty fossils of an era,
Perfect picture now bygone,
But maybe one day we'll restore in a new dawn.

CHORUS REPEAT

V.5

We had a world we nearly lived in,
Honest pluckings of ol' Nom
Then the earth cracked open, swallowed Bobby and John.

V. 6

Days of wonder, fight, and passion,
Jackie K. all up in pink,
Crimson spray, shattered illusion, crumbling,

CHORUS AGAIN

V. 7

We had a world we nearly lived in,

You've no idea how close we were,
Maybe one day we'll go back, but no one's sure.
